Kills Hogs

Last Thursday, July 13th, was black day for the Hogs on the peaceful farm of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Clarke, on the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carter. The animals were unaware of the fate that awaited them, but early in the morning birds began to sing, the sun rose in the east, the rooster crowed to announce the coming of the day, and so contented was the hogs that they failed to get up at their usual time. Mrs. Carter's brother, Mr. Allen Gardner, arrived early and proceeded to the pen where the hogs were confined. Mr. Gardner was armed with a rifle and a butcher knife. He climbed into the pen and began stalking his victims. Finally he decided to shoot a big black sow that appeared to be 7 feet tall and weighed a ton. He took careful aim, fired a shot, and the sow fell dead. Mr. Gardner then proceeded to kill the rest of the hogs, which were all of medium size.

FBLA Receives Gold Seal Award

The Future Business Leaders of America Chapter at Appomattox County High School has been awarded the Gold Seal Award, the highest possible achievement for their work in FBLA this year.

The Chapter was recognized as an Honor Chapter in April at the State Convention held in Roanoke and from there they received the Gold Seal Award at the National Convention held in Houston, Texas, in June of 1972. Although no members from Appomattox attended the National Convention, 65 members and advisors from Virginia took home 19 Gold Seal Awards.

The 22nd Annual Leadership Conference was held at Massanetta Springs last week where Mr. Frank Peele, Executive Secretary, presented Kay Honeycutt, President of the Appomattox Chapter, the Gold Seal Award. Other than Kay, those attending the Leadership Conferencefrom Appomattox were Susan Weatherly, Martha Grisham and Mrs. Rita Wolf, Advisor. Approximately 150 members and advisors were there last week to learn better leadership and to collect ideas to carry back to their FBLA Chapters for the forth coming school year.

School Board Met Tuesday

The Appomattox County School Board met briefly on Tuesday night, July 18, at the request of Eugene W. Peyton, acting superintendent appointed due to the recent death of Earl L. Smith, to inform the board of progress since that appointment.

Firms bidding on equipment for the new school have been contacted and they agreed to extend bids for 90 days, thus giving Peyton and the board time to review all bids before making a decision.

Frank Chuchek, General Supervisor, was complimented for his knowledgeable assistance. Chuchek, reported that he and Smith had been working very closely together over the past years regarding the purchase of equipment and he saw no difficulty nor anticipated any problems.

The Board, in other action, approved two applications for Special Education upon the recommendation of the Placement Board. They also voted to continue the school accident and dental plan with Pilot Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Peyton introduced W. Sam Kerr will be the legal advisor replacing Harry G. Lawson who has moved from the state.

In closing, Peyton gave a brief report to the board on progress being made on the new high school building.

To Get Second Area Code

A second area code for telephone customers in Virginia will be introduced in June of next year, according to Lester Beydler, Western district manager for Continental Telephone Company of Virginia and First Colony Telephone Company.

He said that the state would be split into two sections June 24, 1973. The new area code of 804 will be assigned to the eastern portion of the state which includes the major cities of Richmond, Newport News, Norfolk, Danville, Lynchburg and the Eastern Shore area.

The present area code, 703, would be used by those telephone customers in the western and northern portions of the state which include Arlington, Alexandria, Culpeper, Fredericksburg, Staunton, Roanoke and Martinsville. These two areas, 703 and 804 will be divided by a line extending from the Northern Virginia area, adjacent to Washington, D. C. down through the Blue Ridge Mountains, Roanoke and the southwestern portion of the state.

Beydler said it's expected that the area code of 703 will continue to be used by Continental Telephone of Virginia and First Colony Telephone customers in Harrisonburg, Bridgewater, Broadway, Dayton, Edom, Elkton, Crottoes, Hinton, Keezletown, McGaheysville and Weyers Cave.

The local manager said that the tremendous telephone growth in the past twenty years required the new area code to be introduced.

With the advent of customer dialing of long distance calls (DDD) along with area codes in the early 1950's, the telephone companies in Virginia had less than a million phones. One area code, 703, sufficed. Today there are over 2-3/4 million phones and the second area code is required.

Elaborating further, the manager said there are some 600 different central office codes (the first three digits of a telephone number) that can be assigned to work in any one area code . Here in Virginia these central office codes are virtually all in use and the 32 telephone companies in the state must begin now to assign them for the second time. Since the same seven-digit telephone number can be used only once within an existing area code, an additional area code is required.

When the 804 area code is introduced in June of next year, long distance dialing procedures will change for all Virginians. For example, a phone customer in Harrisonburg - the 703 area - will have to dial "1" plus 804 plus the seven-digit telephone number to reach a Lynchburg or Richmond customer. The procedure will be reversed in calling from Lynchburg or Richmond to Harrisonburg. Dialing a long distance call within the same area code will remain the same.

Telephone customers are reminded that the new area code is not effective until June 24, 1973.

SAFE DRIVING TIPS

The "last one for the road" might be your last one period if you decide to drive after drinking. Make your last one a cup of coffee and let someone who has not been drinking take over the driving. You'll both live longer for it.
